

Peer Reviewed

Title:

Contributors 8:1

Journal Issue:

Places, 8\(1\)

Publication Date:

1992

Publication Info:

Places

Permalink:

<http://escholarship.org/uc/item/6n0022c8>

Acknowledgements:

This article was originally produced in Places Journal. To subscribe, visit www.places-journal.org. For reprint information, contact places@berkeley.edu.

Keywords:

places, placemaking, architecture, environment, landscape, urban design, public realm, planning, design, contributors

Copyright Information:

All rights reserved unless otherwise indicated. Contact the author or original publisher for any necessary permissions. eScholarship is not the copyright owner for deposited works. Learn more at http://www.escholarship.org/help\_copyright.html#reuse

eScholarship
University of California

eScholarship provides open access, scholarly publishing services to the University of California and delivers a dynamic research platform to scholars worldwide.

CONTRIBUTORS

Juliet Barclay

is a designer, photographer and writer in London. She runs the Spanish Caribbean Arts Network, which develops links between artists in Great Britain and the Spanish Caribbean. She travels frequently to Cuba, and is completing a book about Havana's social history and architecture.

Graham Brooks

holds degrees in architecture and building conservation. His heritage-based consulting practice in Sydney undertakes conservation planning and restoration projects for public and private organizations. He is on the executive committee of Australia ICOMOS and the Historic Buildings Committee of the National Trust of Australia (NSW).

William Chapman

was recently named director of the Pacific Preservation Consortium at the University of Hawaii. He has taught preservation at the University of Georgia, worked with the Virgin Islands preservation agency, and overseen cultural programs in the U.S. National Park Service.

Jeffrey W. Cody

is a visiting assistant professor in Cornell University's Historic Preservation Planning Program. While in residence at Tongji University, Shanghai, he researched the work of American architect Henry K. Murphy and explored Shanghai's preservation initiatives and built environment, often by bicycle.

Robert G. Colosimo

is an architect who has worked for the Department of Conservation and Environment, Melbourne, Australia; the Tianjin Urban and Rural Planning and Design Institute, in China; and the Historic American Buildings Survey/Historic American Engineering Record, in Washington, D.C.

Tamara Coombs

is studying architecture and design criticism at Parsons School of Design. She has worked in historic preservation in seven western states, both for local government and in a regional office of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Ronald Lee Fleming

is a preservation advocate, urban planner, design and critic. He is co-founder and president of the Townscape Institute.

Maria Fuentes and Roques Gistau

work with the Canal de Isabel II water company in Madrid.

Rahul J. Mehrotra

is an architect in Bombay and founding member of the Bombay Conservation Group, which initiates conservation projects there. He obtained a masters in urban design at Harvard and studied architecture at the School of Architecture, Ahmedabad.

Leslie Rainer

is a wall painting conservator who has trained in the U.S., France and Italy. With a background in museum conservation and architectural artisanry, she has more recently focused on the preservation of tradition and know-how as integral to the conservation of cultural property.

Michael Turner

is adjunct professor at the University of Colorado and the University of British Columbia. He teaches architecture and coordinates a conservation studies program at Bezalel Academy, Jerusalem, and currently chairs ICOMOS-Israel.

Cathy Tuttle

is an anthropologist studying at the University of Washington, Seattle, department of urban design and planning, where she is researching planning policies for culturally sensitive tourism.

David Vanderburgh

is a Killam Postdoctoral Fellow at the University of British Columbia. Trained in design, history and theory at the University of California, Berkeley, he writes on urbanism and architectural reform.

Joseph C. Wang

is on the architecture faculty at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. A native of Suzhou, China, he has travelled extensively in China recently and writes about its architecture, people and places.

Cherilyn Widell

is a Fulbright Scholar studying the cultural conservation system in Japan. She is a former Executive Director of the National Alliance for Preservation Commissions and has consulted on many adaptive reuse projects.

Richa Wilson

studied architecture at Kansas State University and is working for an architectural firm in the Washington, D.C. area. In summer, 1991, she was a USICOMOS intern to the Soviet Union.

International Symposium on Design Review: Debating Practices and Issues

Cincinnati, Ohio
October 8-11, 1992

Send or Fax your request for information to:

Featured Speakers:

Elizabeth Plater Zyberk, DPZ Architects
Michael Wilford, Stirling Wilford Architects, UK
Gary Hack, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Robert McNulty, Partners for Liveable Places
Bernard Frieden, author, The Environmental Protection Hustle and others

International Symposium on Design Review
College of Design, Architecture, Art, and Planning University of Cincinnati
M.L. 16
Cincinnati, Ohio 45221-0016

Phone: (513) 556-4943
Fax: (513) 556-3288

Please send me additional information about the Symposium.

Name _____
Address _____
Phone _____

HISTORIC PRESERVATION AT TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

Graduate course work in Historic Preservation is offered as an emphasis in the professional graduate degrees in Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Planning and in the research degrees of M.S. in Architecture and Ph.D.

A diverse faculty in a comprehensive college with a strong research program provide a unique opportunity for study in this critical field.

Contact: Professor David G. Woodcock
Department of Architecture
Texas A&M University, College Station,
Texas 77843-3137